Looking Forward to....

Black History Month

Celebrating Black History Month

At East Hill, we find important to make our students discover, explore and learn about the history, the contribution and the richness of Black History.

Thus, one of the main objectives of this event is to fight stereotypes and prejudices. Black History Month provides a great opportunity to educate the community at large about Black people's contributions to the world.

The time is always right to do what is right." Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr.

Valentine's Day

There is no better time than Valentine's Day to lift our spirits and bring smiles to everyone despite the stress we are living.
